Retirement

Kevin Shaw, operations manager for Facilities Management and Development, will retire after more than 32 years of service. Hired as a grounds worker for the southwest corner of campus, he also worked in the warehouse and oversaw the road crew. Shaw's achievements include the launch of Cal Poly's eSurplus, improvements to the Lost and Found program, and assistance with campus sustainability efforts. He has also been instrumental in the success of the San Luis Obispo Blues Society. Facilities Transportation Services invites campus to wish him well in retirement from 10 to 10:15 a.m. Thursday, June 2, in the Transportation Services Building (No. 71) or send him an email at eshaw@calpoly.edu.

Catastrophic Leave

Rodeo Program Receives Record Donation

At this year's 76th annual Poly Royal Rodeo, Mark and Jessie Milano announced they would establish a $1 million endowment to benefit the Cal Poly Rodeo team in perpetuity. The largest donation in the program's history, the funds will provide scholarships to student athletes for their performance both in and out of the arena. Leadership, academic performance, athletic contribution, financial need, teamwork and camaraderie will all be considered. The gift will increase the program's scholarship offerings to $80,000 in 2016-17, up from $16,000 awarded in 2015-16. Mark Milano, a cattle rancher and retired oil industry executive, said he admires Cal Poly's Learn by Doing philosophy and the rodeo program's reverence of the Western way of life. Ben Londo Named Coach of the Year

In his third year of coaching the Cal Poly Rodeo Team, Ben Londo was named Coach of the Year for the West Coast Region. Londo coached the team to a host of top finishes at the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association's West Coast Regionals. A professional Rodeo Cowboys Association rider since 2003, Londo has amassed an admirable list of achievements, including being named a saddle bronc champion four times for the Columbia River circuit.

University Catering Awarded Silver for 2015 Evening of Green & Gold

University Catering earned the silver award by the National College and University Food Service Association (NACUFS) in the Catering - Special Event category for the 2015 Evening of Green and Gold. The event's farm-to-table theme highlighted Cal Poly's unique connection to agriculture. The NACUFS Loyal E. Horton Dining Awards are considered the most prestigious campus dining awards in the U.S. and Canada. They celebrate exemplary menus, presentations, special event planning, and new dining concepts, and they provide an avenue for sharing ideas and creative presentations in campus dining services. First place was awarded to Yale University.
