Hearing on University Master Plan's Initial Study is Oct. 20

A public hearing regarding the Initial Study for the environmental impact report for the university's Master Plan 2035 will be held at 6 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 20, at the University Union, Room 220. The master plan update will guide campus development over the next 20 years, while accommodating student enrollment, enhancing the quality of campus life and continuing a high standard of educational instruction. The Initial Study has been prepared under the California Environmental Quality Act, which indicates that future campus projects might have significant environmental impacts. Those impacts will be addressed by the EIR prepared by the university. The 30-page document is available online at <http://masterplan.calpoly.edu/>; click on the Related Documents tab. Printed copies are also available for review at Kennedy Library. Submit written comments until 5 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 1.

Homecoming: See a Mustang in Landmark Rock on Oct. 22

A project revitalizing Cal Poly's koi pond memorial north of Spanos Stadium has made it easier to see the outline of the head and mane of the university mascot in the serpentine rock outcropping — just in time for Homecoming. A viewing spot will be hosted during the tailgate barbecue prior to the Mustangs' football game against UC Davis on Saturday, Oct. 22. The tailgate will be from 3 to 5:45 p.m. A special viewing-frame — to make it easier to distinguish the mustang's head and mane — will be in place from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. at the memorial, located between the Business Building (No. 3) and the stadium rose garden. The rock outcropping honors Ted Howe, former head of the Ornamental Horticulture Department, who died in 1952.
